

21st Century Evangelicals

A snapshot of the beliefs and habits of evangelical Christians in the UK Series A: Issue 1

Does belief touch society?

Research by the Evangelical Alliance
September 2011

21st Century Evangelicals

A snapshot of the beliefs and habits of evangelical Christians in the UK

Does belief touch society?

---

It's time to get talking

---

Introductory questions

What do you find encouraging about these results? What do you find challenging? Which results surprise you?

Do you think the results presented in this report are representative of our church? What do we expect would be the main areas of difference and similarities?

Working together

How are Christians working together in your community?

What ways could Churches work better together in your area?

How can our church integrate evangelism and social action to ensure that we speak good news as well as being good news?

When and how should we work together with secular, or other faith bodies for the common good?

Current affairs

Is there an 'evangelical' or biblical way of thinking about topics which hit the headlines?

How could you church work with, or involve more local MPs, councillors or other political representatives?

If they are elected what are some of the key issues of Christian principle they should not compromise on and where is it OK to negotiate a compromise?

Public Life

What opportunities does the Governments 'big society' idea provide us with?

Should the Church, and how would they, be encouraging people to stand for roles such as councillors or MPs? What difference does being a Christian make to a politician?

How can we deal with the fact that Christians have very different views on war and peace?

Celebrating Easter

How can the Church encourage more young people to attend Easter Sunday services. Or address issues keeping them from being there?

How can the Church help to resource those who see Easter as a pivotal time to tell the Good News of Jesus Christ?

Where are the opportunities for publicly communicating the message of the Cross and Resurrection outside the walls of your church?